—Laura Bridgman, the wonderful blind woman, has returned to the Institute for the Blind at South Boston. She is fifty-seven years of age.—Boston Journal

—A ten-year-old maiden at Rose Bank, Md., carried off a prize recently by repeating eight hundred verses from the Bible which she had committed to memory.

—Ferdinand Ward works a small printing-press at Sing Sing Prison. He shuns observation and looks nobody in the eye. He is thin and haggard; his breast is sunken, his gait that of an old man.—N. Y. Mail —Preacher Callahan, of Madison, Ga., lost ten bales of cotton by fire. His friends are making up a purse for him, and a local newspaper says that he deserves it because he is "honest, a tenant and has nine unmarried daughters."—Chicago Times —When a Mexican girl marries she simply becomes part of her husband's estate. For instance, if her name was Anita Gomez, and she marries a Mr. Jose, she is then known as Anita Gomez Jose, in other words, Jose's Anita, as Jose's house or other piece of property.

—Mr. Brandenburg, of Philadelphia, will go down to poverty as the owner of the largest dog in America. Koloss is a Danish hound of noble ancestry, is nine feet long and two feet high. He has an immense head and a huge body of a tawny color, streaked with dark gray. Philadelphia Record

—Dr. Crawford, a young lady homopathist of Chambersburg, Pa., recently administered a public horse-whipping to a young man who had "talked about her." The patient in this case was not pleased with her return to the old-school treatment of bleeding and blistering.—Philadelphia Press —Elatus Brooks, who died the other day in New York with something more than a million, wisely guarded against the lawyers becoming his residuary legatees by dividing his estate among his children long before his death, reserving for himself a mere competency to secure the comforts due to age and dignity.—N. Y. Times

—William I. Bowditch, of Boston, the administrator of Wendell Phillips' estate, has a little book with leather back and corners, in which "Ann and Wendell Phillips" recorded the money they gave away. The grand total, inclusive of large and small sums, from 1815 to 1875, was $64,710. And yet neither of them was wealthy, in the modern acceptance of the word.—Boston Herald

—Lieutenant A. M. Fuller, of the Second United States Cavalry, during his recent service in Arizona, was detailed to special duty as signal officer. Signals were flashed by mirrors from five to forty miles. So nearly perfect is this system of communication by sun-flashes that a trial message of twenty-five words was sent recently over a two hundred mile line, and an answer of the same length received at the starting point in twenty minutes' time.—Chicago Journal

—An Irishman speaking of a relative who was hanged, said he died during a tight rope performance.—N. Y. Telegram —The Detroit Free Press says that the baby cart "must go." Why of course it must. That's what it was made for.—Chicago Herald

—At a negro ball, in lieu of "not transferable" on the tickets, a notice was posted on the door: "No gentleman admitted unless he comes himself."—N. Y. Post —Regular Caller: "I'd like to see your father, Tommy, if he isn't engaged." Tommy: "He is, but what's the matter with Clara? She isn't engaged."—Lorel Citizen

—What luck did you have, dear? asked his wife, as he returned home from a day's fishing. "Splendid," he said. "I caught 'em." Opening his basket he displayed a lot of sausages. The butcher had mixed those baskets up.—N. Y. Sun

—"Here is a little thing I just dashed off," said a burly man as he entered the sanctum. The editor was just about to state that he didn't use poetry, when the young lady produced a beautiful roll of butter. It was accepted with thanks.—Burlington Free Press —Police Tramp: Will you oblige me with a little vinegar and a bit of rag, making up my head in a rag? "No, sir," replied the woman. "I'm very sorry, but our vinegar is all out. I wouldn't let a little New England rum do as well? Tramp: I don't know, madam, but I'll try it and never mind the rag.—Puck

—Scene: At school. Mrs. Non-van: And is that large picture some of your work? Pupils: Mine? Oh, no, no, no. That is one of the old masters. Mrs. Non-van (in an undertone to her companion): I don't like to hear a young man speak so disrespectfully of his teachers. A Pupil: Respectfully.

—"Tom," said an Irishman to his other boy, "was this dump of ice put in the water, cooler to-day?" "No, sir," replied the youth. "It was left over from last evening, and as it was a large lump, I thought it would answer." "You did, eh, you rascal? Throw it out! throw it out! and put in some fresh ice, and then again try to make old ice do the work of new."—N. Y. Mail

—Elihu: I want a pair of slippers for my Number three, please, and a pair of slippers for my Number four. Squeaky: I'm afraid we haven't any of that kind. Elihu: I'm so sorry. I can't make him a Number three. There is a certain young gentleman who visits me frequently and I would be very convenient for him to know just when his slippers are coming. Elihu: A call.

—Saved His Life. Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., says he was for many years, badly afflicted with Phthisis, also Diabetes; the pains were almost unendurable and would sometimes almost throw him into convulsions. REASONS.

There are forty reasons why men dress well, some of them decidedly curious should they be probed.

Expediency of odd sorts serves to accomplish certain ends and the like.

Most men, we trust, rise to the higher plane of neatness and good taste. A well-bred man pleases himself and enjoys a satisfaction in knowing he attracts no attention by too little dress or too much. In our very full supply of you will find the happy medium that every gentleman of good taste and every mother of refinement, who wishes to see her boys well dressed, enjoys.

In answer to the question so often asked,

Where Can I Do the Best?

we would say, and prove it if necessary, that every dollar's worth of goods that is delivered to us, after being examined and found correct, is paid for SPOT CASH. This and a twenty years' experience in our business, knowing how to buy and where to buy, offsets any argument that has been and may be made by any of our competitors as to their offering extraordinary bargains, without any good reason on their part as to their superior ability, financially or otherwise, to procure them.

The rowdy element caused trouble at the Stapp's Chapel revival meeting. The interest in the service is great, and last night the crowd was so large that the doors had to be locked to avoid a crush. Parties assembled the doors, disturbing Evangelist Wilson and the congregation, besides wrenching the knob off one of the doors. Officers Helmick and Winnebrow were summoned to the church to disperse the bad element. There were no arrests, as it was difficult to identify the guilty party or parties. "The Mighty Dollar," which they played at the theatre-gone in the coming of the celebrated comedians, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence, for one night at the opera house next Thursday evening. Their play of "The Mighty Dollar," which they will present, is probably the best known comedy on the American stage, and in the Florence became famous. Mr. Florence is beyond dispute the best comedian on the stage. Mrs. Florence is an actress of broad and talented powers; her impersonations are characterized by a certain dashy vim and energetic cheerfulness peculiar to herself. She is irresistible in everything; she is the most magnificent dresser on the stage, and is one of the very few actresses whose costumes are really manufactured by Worth, in Paris. In "The Mighty Dollar" she wears a different costume in each act, every change exhibiting a handsomer toilet than the one previously worn. Mr. and Mrs. Florence have just concluded the most successful engagement of the season at Pope's theatre, St. Louis. The sale of seats commenced this morning, and promises to be extremely large.
